Essential Business Employee Letter

We have heard in some states people driving to work in essential businesses were being stopped and asked where they were going. Some employees feel nervous driving to and from work and actually feel guilty for doing so even though their business is deemed essential by the governor. That being said, we have designed a template that could be used for your employees that are driving to and from work. If they are stopped they could show the letter with their supervisor's name and phone on it to verify their identity if necessary. Please use it at your own discretion.
